UNITED STATES ATTORNEY ANNE M. TOMPKINS WESTERN DISTRICT OF NORTH CAROLINA

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE THURSDAY, MAY 19, 2011 http://www.usdoj.gov/usao/ncw

CONTACT: Lia Bantavani

704.338.3140 Fax: 704.227.0264

COMPUTER PROGRAMMER SENTENCED TO FEDERAL PRISON FOR UNAUTHORIZED COMPUTER ACCESS

The Defendant Accessed ATMs Using Malicious Computer Code

CHARLOTTE, NC - A former Bank of America (BOA) computer programmer was sentenced to 27 months in federal prison yesterday, to be followed by two years of supervised release for unauthorized access to the financial institution's protected computers, announced Anne M. Tompkins, U.S. Attorney for the Western District of North Carolina. U.S. Attorney Tompkins is joined in making today's announcement by Russell F. Nelson, Special Agent in Charge of the U.S. Secret Service, Charlotte Field Division.

U.S. District Judge Frank D. Whitney also ordered Rodney Reed Caverly, 54, of Mint Hill to pay restitution in the amount of $419,310.90. The restitution amount includes $284,750 Caverly stole from ATMs and $134,750.90 in costs incurred by BOA to remove from the bank's ATM computer system a malicious computer code entered by Caverly. U.S. Secret Service agents also recovered $167,010 of stolen cash based on information provided by the defendant.

According to court records and sentencing proceedings, Caverly, who was hired by BOA to design and maintain its computer systems, had been assigned to work on a project involving the bank's automated teller machine (ATM) system. Filed documents and court records show that from March 2009 to October 2009, Caverly knowingly and with intent to defraud exceeded his authorized access by gaining access to one or more protected BOA computers and deployed a malicious computer code to select BOA ATMs. The malicious code caused a limited number of infected ATMs to disburse cash from the ATMs without any transaction record of the cash disbursements. The code Caverly entered caused only the unauthorized disbursement of cash stored in the ATM machines and did not affect any financial accounts of BOA's customers.

Caverly pleaded guilty on April 13, 2010 and was released pending his sentencing hearing. Upon designation to a federal facility, he will report to the custody of the Federal Bureau of Prisons. Federal sentences are served without the possibility of parole.

The investigation was handled by the U.S. Secret Service, Charlotte Field Office, and was prosecuted by Assistant U.S. Attorney Thomas O'Malley of the U.S. Attorney's Office in Charlotte.